CORGI TOYS

Illustrated here are just a few examples of the wonderful features first introduced by Corgi—features which make Corgi Toys the greatest name in die-cast scale modelling.

241 Fiat L6.4 4½ inches 108 mm

Here's one of the greatest Corgi models yet—the superb Fiat L6.4 with Chrysler engine. A wonderful model loaded with features and features! Just look for yourself—fully opening doors, tip-up seats, opening bonnet, detailed die-cast engine, jewelled headlights, plated radiator, plated bumpers, driving mirror and dashboard detail, suspension, opening boot, steering wheel and your own Corgi dog for a backseat passenger.

310 Chevrolet Sting Ray 3½ inches 90 mm

With swivelling jewelled head lights, seats, steering wheel and Glidamatic spring suspension. Another Corgi “first” is featured in this fabulous model. The swivelling head lights of the real car are perfectly reproduced, the twin jewelled lights swinging out of sight at the touch of a finger, completing the perfect streamlining of this great sports car.

245 Buick Riviera 5/6 4½ inches 108 mm

Another first—Trans-o-Lite front and rear lights! This superb model has lights that illuminate by using the unique Trans-o-Lite system—light is captured through the wind-screen and the rear window and travels along transparent rods to illuminate the front and rear lights. Other features are plated grille and bumpers, spoked wheels and Glidamatic spring suspension.

—and now Corgi do the impossible—working windscreen wipers on a Corgi size model

PLATED PARTS

247 Mercedes Benz 600 Pullman

To incorporate working windscreen wipers on a Corgi size model presented a tremendous challenge—now this feature appears on this outstanding replica of the 600 Pullman. At the turn of an on/off switch the wipers realistically operate as the car runs along. Also included on this "model of the year" are plated radiator and fittings, fully detailed moulded interior, opening rear windows, Glidomatic spring suspension and a vision panel under the chassis through which the windscreen wiper mechanism can be seen.

437 Superior Ambulance on Cadillac Chassis

This Corgi model has another 'first'—FIVE battery-operated flashing lights! But as only one bulb illuminates all lights, the battery lasts for ages. Changing battery or bulb takes only seconds. All you have to do is unclip the power-pack, lift out bulb or battery, put new one in, clip power-pack into place. And once in it stays there! The model has a cut-out switch so you can stop the lights flashing when you like, to avoid battery wastage. No other model has such a simple power-pack system. The model also has windows, seats, steering wheel and Glidomatic spring suspension.

1127 Simon Snorkel Fire Engine Overall length $9\frac{1}{2}$ inches 252 mm. Height (fully extended) $14\frac{3}{8}$ inches 372 mm.

A superb Corgi Model of the latest, most modern fire fighting vehicle available today, with every feature authentically reproduced. Ladders have given way to hydraulic operating lifting booms on a revolving platform that carry a fireman quickly and easily to the source of the fire or to the rescue of trapped people—no more struggling up ladders! Throughout the elevating movement the fireman's cradle remains perfectly level as it rises and falls, and four retractable stabilisers hold the model in position while the booms are adjusted. The cab interior detail includes two firemen and steering wheel, while three firemen are seated immediately behind the cab. Glidomatic spring suspension is also fitted. The Corgi Model of the British designed Simon Snorkel comes in a polyfoam presentation box.

CORGI CLASSICS

9001 1927 3 Litre Bentley Le Mans Winner 4 inches 102 mm
9/11

Here, as on the original, you will see the long, attractive body . . . the wire wheels . . . the exposed brake drums . . . the removable hood . . . the reinforced windscreen with opened driver's panel . . . the outside hand-brake . . . the distinctive radiator . . . the strapped down bonnet . . . detailed undercarriage with long exhaust pipe . . . correctly patterned tyres . . . driver . . . and so on.

Historical notes on the Bentley 3 Litre

By the standards of its day the four-cylinder engine was of the high-efficiency type. It was easily handled, reliable, well-behaved, remarkably economical and exceedingly long lived. The compression ratio was low yet power output was high, varying from 70 to 90 b.h.p. Its outstanding reliability gave it a big advantage over rival makes of greater power but lesser stamina. This it proved by winning the 1927 Le Mans 24-hour race, at an average speed of 61.36 m.p.h. About a fifth of all the 3 Litre Bentleys produced between 1921-7 still survive to this day.

PLAYCRAFT TOYS LTD. LONDON

You'll find that this Corgi Classics model of the 1915 T Ford hasn't missed a thing! It's got the same sturdy body . . . the spoked wheels . . . the 'brass' radiator . . . the button upholstery . . . in fact everything is there—even two model figures in period costume! Never before has modelling of this high degree of precision been attempted in die-cast scale models.

Historical notes on the Model T Ford

Henry Ford made history with the "Tin Lizzie". It was the first mass produced car in the world and brought motoring within the reach of millions.

Tin Lizzie's character was unique. It was cheap, sturdy, reliable, versatile and easy to repair even by the unskilled. Its two point suspension system enabled it to go anywhere—even to climb stairs. A 22.4 h.p. side-valve engine and unorthodox epicyclic gearbox, with an unusual system of pedal controls, propelled its light weight. During the eighteen years up to 1927 about 15,000,000 were produced. Your choice of colours was limited. "You can have any colour you like as long as it's black," Henry Ford used to say. In Great Britain the 1915 Model T cost £125.

9021 1910 38 h.p. Daimler 10/6

Here are just some of the features you must look for . . . the long body . . . spoked wheels . . . outside hand-brake . . . authentic radiator . . . detailed undercarriage with long exhaust pipe . . . correct tyre pattern . . . button upholstery . . . foot rests for backseat passengers . . . and driver with 3 passengers in period costume.

Historical notes on the 38 h.p. Daimler

The beautiful 4-cylinder, 6 litre Daimler of 1910 vintage recalls the leisured elegance of the Edwardian era. Its maximum speed of 50 m.p.h. plus was quite high enough for the people of wealth and position favouring this car, who found luxurious accommodation and perfect running of prime importance. Quietness of running was achieved by using a power unit of sleeve valve type as opposed to the more widely used poppet valve—however its thirst for oil was considerable and the use of sleeve valves was not extended.
